The Singapore University of Social Sciences (formerly known as SIM University) School of Law’s primary focus is to train and produce lawyers for the practice of law in Singapore, particularly in the areas of Criminal Law and Family Law. This is part of the national effort to meet the need for lawyers in the areas of Criminal Law and Family Law. In view of School of Law’s emphasis on the practice of law, the two programmes offered, Juris Doctor and Bachelor of Laws, which specialise in Criminal Law and Family Law, will aim at providing a comprehensive education that is practice-oriented and multi-disciplinary. Students will have ample opportunities to interact with practising lawyers, and work on real cases throughout their studies. Both degrees will qualify the graduates for entry into the Legal Profession in Singapore.

Programme Overview

Bachelor of Laws
Juris Doctor

Singapore University of Social Sciences School of Law degrees are offered both to degree holders as well as fresh school leavers and diploma holders. Applicants with a Bachelor’s degree will be offered the Juris Doctor (JD) whilst fresh school leavers and diploma holders will be offered the Bachelor of Laws (LLB) degree, a direct honours programme. Both degrees will qualify the graduates for entry into the Legal Profession in Singapore.

Unique Features of the Programmes

Both degree programmes will comprise classes conducted in the evenings. The programmes will also be modular and students will have up to six years to complete the degree.

The School of Law will adopt an applied learning approach rather than a purely academic approach in pedagogy. You can expect that the cases and scenarios you discuss will be drawn from actual cases.
One of the mandates of the Singapore University of Social Sciences School of Law is to train lawyers with a heart for and who will eventually practise as lawyers within the community, primarily in Criminal Law and Family Law. Accordingly, our student recruitment will focus on and give preference to applicants who have a fair amount of work experience, especially those who have worked for some time in related fields such as social work, law enforcement and the prison service.

Other applicants who can show current involvement in community work connected with Criminal Law and Family Law will also be given preferred consideration.

The LLB and JD programmes will be recognised degrees under the Legal Profession Act, and provided the student graduates with a GPA of 3.5, he/she will be a 'qualified person' under the Legal Profession Act and will be eligible to sit for Part B of the Bar Examinations.

The graduate is qualified to practise law in any area, but he/she will have particular knowledge and skills to excel in the fields of Criminal Law and Family Law.
PROGRAMME STRUCTURE

Courses taught in both degree programmes will cover the core law subjects which are found in equivalent three-year law programmes in the UK. In addition, our students will be required to take complementary non-law subjects such as Forensics. Our LLB candidates will also have the opportunity to take electives including subjects such as Specialist Family Law: Adoption, Mental Capacity and Cross-border Issues.

In the latter part of the course in both the JD and LLB programmes, students will undertake a 15-credit unit Legal Clerkship Programme which will provide them the platform for authentic practical training in real-life situations, in collaboration with institutions that work with Criminal Law and Family Law.
